MR. MARSHALL'S FORECAST

Minister of Agriculture is Enthusiastic
Over the Success of the Calgary
Horse Show

"One of the best stock shows I have ever seen is a truly splendid exhibition, especially of horses."
This in brief is the way Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, praises the Alberta Provincial Stock Shows which have just closed at Calgary. Mr. Marshall attended the show every day and was more than pleased with everything he saw. He came home last night after having stopped off at Olds to see how matters on his farm were progressing.

"One thing which was very noticeable, and which I consider a very good indication, was that in judging the draft horses this year the judges placed more emphasis on the question of weight than they have done in previous years," said Mr. Marshall this morning. "The judges have thus decided that a draft horse must be a draft horse in every sense of the word, and must have the weight. In previous years it has been the custom to give many of the prizes to horses which had the quality but which were very light; but I am glad to see more weight is being largely considered. This will be welcome news to horse breeders throughout the province and will be very interesting to them."

Mr. Marshall also had words of praise for the pure bred bulls and the other stock shown and in speaking of the prizes realized at the different sales and the large number of entries in every event he said that it was self-evident that the farmers of Alberta had realized the importance of breeding a good class of cattle and live stock of all kinds and were going at the matter in the right manner.

Increase in Acreage

Regarding crop conditions he said that the delightfully cool yet sunny weather all over the province was as far as he had been able to learn having its effect, and that the crop this year would be got into the ground in excellent shape.

"I found some seedling in the south, but not a great deal," he said. "The people are not rushing except with their spring wheat, but they are making great headway with their breaking. At the present time I am hardly prepared to estimate the increased acreage that will be broken this year, but when the actual figures are available they will be startling. In the history of the whole Dominion or of the United States I do not think there will be anything to parallel it."

On his way from the south Mr. Marshall stopped off at Olds to superintend the work on his farm in that vicinity. He found work in that district progressing well and his own farm was not one bit behind the others in this respect.

DEMOCRACY IS CORRUPT

Harvard Professor Gives Some Pessimistic
Views in Montreal

Montreal, April 9.—The effect of democracy on the spirit of the people and the spirit of the individual was the theme of the address delivered to the Canadian Club here by Prof. F. C. De Smet, Harvard.

Democracy, the Professor said, seemed in these days to have as its constant partner corruption. This corruption was the result of selfishness.

"The root of democracy was individualism. This is the thing which helps men to get on. Let individualism run away with itself and indifference results, and brings selfishness and selfishness brings corruption."

C. N. R. IN LAND DEAL

Interested in Company Buying up Large
Block in Toronto

Toronto, April 9.—The Toronto Land Corporation, Limited, Toronto; capital $2,500,000. Provisional directors: James Steller, Lovell, William Bain, Robert Gowans, Albert John Wise, and Henry Chambers.

The above is a condensation of an announcement of incorporation appearing in the current number of the Ontario Gazette.

The names are those of men connected with the Blake-Lash law firm, which firm cares for the legal business of the Canadian Northern Railway.

It is a good guess that this new company is the one which is to buy the Young, Carlton, Church and Alexander Street property, and that after all it is the C. N. R. and not the C. P. R. which is the purchaser, along with the radial interests.

Strong for Navy

Toronto, April 9.—"I am for the navy," said Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, at Carlton street Methodist Church.

"I am for it straight and stout and strong. I am for a navy in harmony with the imperial navy, and I believe that we are unworthy of the name of Canadians unless we get into hearty co-operation with the Empire."

"I thank God that when our country was threatened with invasion I had a boy who went against the Fenians. I am proud of him taking up the musket for Canada than of the degrees he took at the university."

THIS YEAR TO BE ALBERTA'S YEAR

"Phenomenal Influx of Settlers Coming Into this Province This Year"
Says Mr. R. L. Shaw

Mr. Robert L. Shaw, M.P.P., of Stettler, is in the city today on a return trip from Winnipeg. He has been away for about two weeks and to the Capital this morning stated that in Winnipeg he saw several carloads of settlers' effects all of which were billed through to points in Alberta.

"This year will see a phenomenal influx of settlers into this province," he said, "and from talks I have had with several business men I am sure that many new industries will spring up in Alberta this year. Several manufacturing men I met asked many questions regarding Edmonton, but judging from the extensive knowledge which they already possess this city must have a lot of good boosters among the commercial men. I believe that many people in the East are keeping a closer watch on Alberta and the towns in this province than they are on their own cities."

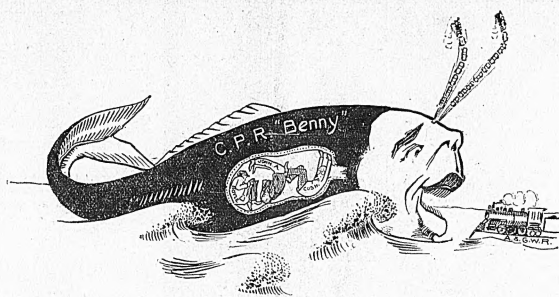

Mr. Shaw also stated that a very large number of laborers for the railroad construction camps would be coming to Edmonton within a week or so.

"I met a number of contractors and employment agents who were looking for men to work in this district," he said. "They are gathering up farm hands, laborers and in fact anybody they can get and shipping them here."

Regarding the political situation here Mr. Shaw had little to say. He said, however, that he had not found anyone greatly worried over it outside Alberta, and very few inside.

"I know all the people I met in the train who belonged to the province were busier speculating on the result of this year's crops than on political matters," he said.

Mr. Shaw will remain in the city for a few days before going home to Stettler.

PARTY SPLIT OVER TARIFF

Republicans in United States are Seriously Divided.

PAYNE-ALDRICH BILL DID IT

Indiana, Minnesota and Iowa are all
Strongly Against the New Tariff Law.

Washington, April 9.—Just what will be the political effect of the failure of a number of Republican state conventions to endorse the new tariff law, which apparently is an issue in the coming campaign, is a question that is agitating Republican leaders in Washington. The Indiana Republicans condemned the Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

All signs now point to the success of the Dooliver-Commins faction in the primaries to be held in Iowa in June. This means that the new tariff law probably will not be endorsed by the Iowa Republicans. While the Minnesota Republican state convention will not be held for many weeks, leaders of the party from that state declare that no serious effort will be made to have the party there O. K. the new tariff.

"If the Administration seeks such an endorsement," said Representative Davis, of Minnesota, "it will not only fail in the effort, but in all probability will stir up more bitter feeling in our state. Minnesota Republicans do not like the new tariff. Instead of endorsing it they want another revision."

Insurgents Will Fight

This is the condition of affairs that confronts the Republican Congressional committee: In three states—Indiana, Minnesota and Iowa—enemies against the bill is running high. The bill is unpopular in the Dakotas, there is considerable feeling against it in certain New England states and anti-railroad growls are heard in many districts in other states. Despite this the Republican Congressional Committee has gone ahead preparing literature boosting the Aldrich-Payne bill to the skies, ascribing to it all the virtues and denying in the most emphatic terms that its enforcement would do anything to do with the increased cost of living or in any way responsible for other ills that have been charged to it. In fact all of the literature of the committee itself is controlled by the same pattern and intent to conduct the campaign on that principle as regards the tariff.

Republican insurgents do not take kindly to the medicine the Republican congressional committee is prescribing for them. The chances are, therefore, that there will be many districts next fall where Republican candidates will not call on the party organization for help. Many insurgents are planning to run on their own hook and have already announced that they will not ask the committee for literature or other help.

Not in many years have the Republicans been in such a frame of mind over the political outlook. Secretly many of them would welcome a

FINDS ARE EXAGGERATED

British Columbia Department of Mines
Has Received No Report

Victoria, April 9.—Reports of rich copper placer discoveries on the headwaters of Uink and Yaku rivers, both in Atlin district, which have been received via Juneau and Seattle, are discredited by the provincial mines department, which has no advice confirmatory of the news, although if authentic, Mining Recorder Lyall, stationed at Uink, would undoubtedly have advised.

Letters from Atlin via Juneau also make no mention of new finds on the Yaku, and it is pointed out that the snow there still lies ten feet deep and any discoveries reported must be holdovers kept secret from last autumn of the result of winter drifting on beach ground.

The department concludes that any discoveries have been much magnified for the purpose of stimulating the spring trade for Ketchikan and Juneau.

BOY KILLED IN A FIGHT

Contest Between High School Pupils
Ended in Fatality.

THE REFEREE WAS ARRESTED

He was the Superintendent of the Presbyterian Church Sunday School in Passaic, N.Y.

Passaic, N.Y., April 9.—Gilbert R. Trehou died here last night from a solar plexus blow received in a boys' prize fight last Tuesday night. With brief intermissions he had been unconscious since he was lifted out of the ring and carried to the hospital. Frank Kieser, who is named in a warrant as being the other principal, is missing. The police here have fled to Canada. Henry Knackstedt, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school here, who is said to have been the referee, was arrested yesterday and released on $500 bail. Trehou and Kieser were both nineteen years old, both pupils of Passaic High School, and both of good families.

SEDITION IS NOT GENERAL

Missionary From Central India Sees no Danger of Mutiny.

DANGER LIES IN BRAHMINS

They are the Real Opponents of Western Civilization and Missionary Progress.

Toronto, April 9.—"I have often been asked here whether there is any danger of sedition in India or any likelihood of a repetition of the dreadful Indian mutiny of 1857-58. I have always replied, 'I believe not and hope not.' The masses of India are not seditious, but agitators have gone amongst them in the past, and two years ago there was an anxious time when it was discovered that the loyalty of the Gharaks and Sikhs—two classes of native soldiers on whom the British administration implicitly rely—were being tampered with. Two of these agitators, located by the superintendent of Police at Rawalpindi, a frontier town in the Punjab, were seized and deported to Barmah without a trial. Since then, beyond a little preaching of sedition, no serious menace to India's well-being has developed, so far as I know."

The Cry of the Brahmin

This statement dealing with India and her internal conditions, was made by Rev. R. A. King, Principal of Indore College, an institution conducted in Central India under the auspices of the Presbyterian church in Canada during the course of an illuminating address in St. Andrew's Church (King Street), Principal King expressed the conviction that the real solution of this question of sedition lay in the addition of a moral and spiritual training to the high intellectual development of the Brahmin youth of India. This caste, highest of all in the country, considered the other classes of natives as but dust beneath their feet. The popular cry of "India for the Indians," coming from the Brahmins, meant solely "India for us." They were the most highly educated class of natives, but they had their own civilization for hundreds of years. They were skilled controversialists and learned in metaphysics. When western learning is added to this without moral or spiritual training they become dangerous.

Kitchener Confident

This class, subtle in intellect, were the real opponents of western civilization and of the Christian missionaries in India, and the native Christians and missionaries must be trained to cope with them. It was members of this caste who, falling upon the public platform in debate to rouse the masses in the cities against Great Britain, carried the fight into the villages of the interior and the disaster of the country to the white rulers. They even went so far as to declare that the dreadful bubonic plague was sent to them by the British, who were themselves exempt.

GODDARD WILL BE HERE

Assistant Chief Engineer of A. and G. W. is Recovering

As soon as he is able to leave the Winnipeg General Hospital, where he has just undergone an operation for appendicitis, Mr. Cecil Goddard, assistant chief engineer of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, and formerly in charge of the Edmonton offices of the company, will come to Edmonton.

Latest reports received from Winnipeg say that he is improving very rapidly and will be able to arrive in Edmonton towards the end of the coming week. When he arrives he will be summoned before the investigating commission as a witness.

Ontario's Early Spring

Toronto, April 9.—The continued mild weather has had a very marked effect on vegetation throughout the surrounding district. Fall wheat and rye are both well up and green fields of these crops dotting the farms at this date constitute a new record for early seasons. In at least one field near here the fall wheat is a good three inches high.

French Parliament Dissolved.

Paris, April 9.—The parliament which was elected in 1907 ended its labors last night. The general election will take place inside a fortnight and a new parliament will assemble then.

Fell Across the Track.

Windsor, Ont., April 9.—Peter Giroux, a resident of Tilbury, after a social gathering in Windsor last night started for the "Michigan" Central round house. He fell across the track and a switch engine ran over him, cutting off both legs.

SETTLERS COMING IN STEADY STREAM

Three Hundred Arrived on G. T. P. and Smaller Parties on Every Train

About three hundred settlers, the majority of them men, reached the city last night on the G.T.P. special train which was bringing them from the East. Every man was carrying his blankets and bundles of belongings and as they tumbled off the train at the depot they resembled a column of troops on the march hastily detaching at some strategic point. Although these men who arrived last night have all announced their intention of taking up land at an early date, the majority of them signed on with the employment agents who met the train at the station and instead of stopping over in the city left last night on another special train which would carry them to Wolf Creek and the different railroad camps in the vicinity.

Some few men with families made for the immigration hall and they are there this morning making preparations to immediately take up land in the northern part of the province.

In addition to these people there is a party of thirty-eight settlers from Arkansas who came in over the C.N.R. This party consists of several families and they will also take up land in the north. Two more parties which arrived today were from the Old Country. There were twenty from Glasgow, Scotland, and twenty-five from London and Cheshire, England.

Immigrant Agent Webster reports small parties by every train as well as the larger parties above mentioned and as fast as situations and land are secured for a party their places are taken by others.

Mr. Webster has received notice of several more parties who will arrive during the coming week.

FORTUNE FOR NEGRO WIFE

She Succeeded in Establishing Her
Claim to Beresford's Estate

AD. BERESFORD'S BROTHER

Lord Delaval Beresford Was at One Time
Engaged in Ranching Near

Calveston, Texas, April 9.—Following the sale of part of the estate of the late Lord De Laval Beresford comes the report that the negro woman who said she was his common law wife has received five hundred thousand dollars, and about a hundred thousand acres of land in Durango in a settlement of her claim. About twenty thousand acres are under cultivation. She owns a thousand head of cattle.

Lord De Laval Beresford was killed in a railway accident four years ago in California. Following a trip to England a year ago, when the woman attempted to make a settlement of the estate with the brother of the man she said was her husband, Lord Charles Beresford, of the British navy, the latter came to Mexico several months ago and entered suit to oust the woman from the estate. She proved to the court that Lord De Laval Beresford had introduced her as Mrs. Beresford.

The part of the estate sold to Michigan men was the Optos ranch, near Casa Grandes, and the price authorized by the court was two hundred thousand dollars in American gold.

"I'M NO QUITTER" SAYS MR. MILLER

Ottawa, April 9.—Mr. H. H. Miller, M.P., of South Grey, referring to the fate of his anti-gambling bill, said he would not be deterred if it would come up in any form again this session, but he added: "We are thorough-breds, not quitters. We will be back next session and we are bound to win out. Seventy-five per cent. of public opinion, I believe, is with us and in the end that always wins. The biggest influence against the bill, I think, was the speech of the Minister of Justice. It doubtless swung many votes."

People interested in Blue Bonnets, Montreal, and Woodbine, Toronto, who have been here on pins and needles for a fortnight, went home today to arrange their spring meets.

"Eveing was held up pending the fate of the bill," said a man from Blue Bonnets. "We will now fix dates and bring on the horses."

TWELVE AN ACRE THE LOWEST PRICE

Canada West Land Company Will Hold all its Land for Higher Prices

London, April 9.—At the annual meeting yesterday of the Western Canada Land Company, Major-General Sir Ronald Lane, chairman, said that the small amount of land sold had been the result of the deliberate action of the directors, who had been encouraged to hold the land by the satisfactory development of Western Canada. This action had been amply justified as they have sold 200,000 acres of western land at six per cent. profit and accepted money on $4,000 acres at $9 an acre. They did not intend to sell any more below $12 to $15. Reference was also made to the development of the company's coal field west of Edmonton, the capital of which would be $1,500,000. Shareholders might calculate on what would be the value of their lands then.

Well-Known Sporting Writer Asserts that Chicago Police Take Special Delight in Arresting Johnson.

Otto Floto, the well-known Denver sporting writer says:

While seated in the room with Jack Gleason in Chicago, the other day, the phone rang. Jack answered it, and on the other end was Jack Johnson phoning to Gleason that he had just returned to Chicago after his trouble in the New York courts. Jack was with with rage at the treatment accorded him and believes there is a job on foot somewhere. Gleason assured him that if at any time he needed five or ten thousand dollars to tide him over his present trouble, he (Gleason) would gladly furnish it to him. He also assured Jack that had he known he was going to be placed in jail even for a minute on account of not having enough cash with him, the money would have been wired to him. Then they made an engagement to meet at Johnson's house at 8 o'clock that night, to talk over business connected with the big fight. Hardly were we seated again when the phone rang, and there was Johnson in trouble again. He had just been arrested for violating the speed ordinance. "Don't that beat all?" said Gleason. "It looks as if they are just hounding that poor fellow to death."

Not Treated Fairly

And it does look as if they were carrying the thing a little too far in Johnson's case. Who ever heard of a judge demanding $5,000 as bonds for the appearance of a man in a common assault case? The whole actions of Judge Mulqueen were not in keeping with the case before him. His Honor probably labored under the impression that Johnson had much to do in spiriting away Mistah Pinder. He that as it may, the action of the judge showed that had Pinder appeared Johnson would not have stood a chance on earth to win the case. He was guilty before tried, and would have fared badly had the colored "spot" showed up. As for breaking the speed ordinance, Johnson is in the same boat as the dog who was given the hot and cold. No matter how he drives his car some constable will grab him, just to say to his friends, "I just arrested Jack Johnson, god darn it." And then his rubs pals will say, "Have ye got him in the calaboose, Cy?" That's all old Cy wants. He takes out his red bandana, wipes his his star, and replies, "Surest thing ye know." Then struts out like a peacock. And they place the mantle of authority on the shoulders of rules like that.

Should Get Even Break

I don't want to pose as a defender for Jack Johnson. It's the justice of the thing that appeals to me now. I know Johnson has done many a wrong thing. Furthermore, if one-fourth of the things they tell about him around Chicago are true, then it's small wonder he has not been shot. With it all, however, he is entitled to an even break, when opposed in a court against a man of his own color. This he has not been getting, and the action of the judge in New York last Wednesday morning will do more to make friends for Johnson than anything else.

Money was Wasted

After paying out more than $50,000 for new players since last summer, President Comiskey, of the Chicago White Sox, finds that Shortstop Blackburn, the Eastern League sensation, is perhaps the only one that will measure up to the requirements. But Comiskey has a high class manager in Duffy, with a free rein and the material in his hand, is expected to make the Sox keep near the front. Comiskey says he'll provide all the money Duffy asks for in the attempt to build up a pennant winner, that will divide patronage with the Cubs in the Windy city.

GOOD LEAGUE
IN CENTRAL ALTA.

The Circuit at Present Consists of Red Deer, Olds, Wetaskinaw and Lacombe—Others May Enter.

R. Hainstock, president of the Olds baseball club was in Calgary yesterday on business. In speaking of the Central Alberta baseball league, which was organized on Saturday last at Red Deer, of which Mr. Hainstock is also an official, he says the prospects are good for a banner season.

There is just as keen rivalry between the clubs as in any league which will result in some good games.

Wetaskinaw, Red Deer, Olds and Lacombe will have exceptionally strong teams and the class of ball they will put up will not be slow.

The league expects a number of clubs to enter yet, in which the league will be divided into divisions.

Regarding Olds, Mr. Hainstock says his own town will be out and they will have a fast team.

KICKED BAT
NELSON OUT

The Hegewisch Fighter was Given an icy Reception in a Philadelphia Barber Shop.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 9.—Battling Nelson arrived here today to all his engagement at the Gaitey theatre, but before appearing before the audience went to a nearby barber shop to get shaved.

The barber lathered his face, then Nelson, as first, then became slower in his movements. Suddenly he turned the chair around and exclaimed "Look here, you're Nelson the fighter. If you're not good enough to stop at the Bellevue-Saratoga, you're not good enough to get shaved here. Get out."

Nelson thought the barber was joking and protested. But the barber was in deadly earnest, and finally Nelson washed the lather from his face, and walked out with a majestic stride. It would take columns to tell what Nelson said about Philadelphia barbers.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE

The Board of Control of the City Baseball league will meet in the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening at eight-thirty. Among the business to be transacted, are the questions of team colors, and the draft schedule. The board will also take up the matter of the entrance fee and the amount of money to be put up by each team which sum will be forfeited if it does not finish out the season. Each club that was admitted at the league meeting is requested to have its representatives on hand, at 8:30 sharp.

Jack Johnson Visits Toronto

Toronto, April 7.—Jack Johnson, the colored heavyweight pugilist champion, arrived in town this morning from Chicago, en route to Belleville, where he will give a sparring exhibition tomorrow night with his partner Monte Culver.

Yale Kickers in Spring Practice.

New Haven, Conn., April 8.—Yale football spring practice begins this afternoon on old amilton park, where Old Eli sports took place before the time Yale field was ready for intercollegiate athletics twenty-five years ago. Capt. Fred Daly had forty-five candidates out and as Head Coach Cox is one of the varsity baseball pitchers, Daly directed the gridiron drill.

Practice behind closed gates is a move at variance with the customs of professional baseball which has been adopted by Roger Bresnahan. It seems that the St. Louis fans can cause things about the regulars of the Cardinals youngsters were drubbing them. So Roger ordered star chamber sessions for a couple of days.

WOULD RATHER BE A CATCHER

Orval Overall, Cub's Giant Pitcher, Would Rather Receive Than Deceive.—Chance Says "Nay."

Nashville, Tenn., April 8.—Orval Overall, the Cub's giant pitcher, wants to become a backstop. So overwhelming has the desire become that yesterday he actually begged Manager Chance for an opportunity to work behind the bat this season.

During his college days at the University of California, Overall had some experience as a catcher, and his ambition is said to date from these days. He and Nick Williams, now with San Francisco club of the Pacific coast league, composed an interchangeable battery that was the despair of all the other "rah-rah" nines and half the professional clubs on the coast.

Although Chance turned down his application without consideration, Overall declared that when his useful days as a pitcher are over it would be the mitt and mask for him.

Toronto, April 8.—Nick Carter, the home fiddler of the Toronto lacrosse club, has been engaged as professional coacher for the Harvard university team. The Canadian game has become so popular at Harvard that the athletic committee has sanctioned the engagement of a coach and the local star was selected from a long list of applicants.

SPARKLETS

Glims From the Sporting Anvil

The Nap Regulars left New Orleans on their way north. The American league season opens on Thursday, April 14th. Cleveland opens on that date in Detroit.

Rewardsmen, Cal. Take a good look at the name and familiarize yourself with the pronunciation. It will hit you in the eye every time you open a paper during the next two months. Jeffries is going to train there.

Sam Fitzpatrick, who was Jack Johnson's manager up to the time the black fellow became worth managing and then was incidentally blown, is out with the bromide prediction that Jeffries will knock Johnson's black off, adding hastily, let there be any misconstruction. "I'm not saying this because I'm sure on Johnson." Of course not, Sam; of course not.

New York ball fans are very angry at Manager McGraw trading Herzog and Collins for Becker, of Boston. The papers say Becker is a time.

A St. Louis newspaper has the following to say about "pinch-hitter" Criss: "Dode Criss has not yet been hit on the head by any outfield flick. Neither has he tried to field any of them with his feet when one adds to that the fact that Dode stole a base recently, it seems that Manager O'Connor must have discovered some means of putting a higher gear on Dode's baseball playing. As a batsman Dode is a marvel, but as a fielder he belongs in the class of a couple of degrees below the kindergarten gared."

Hockey players are fast rounding into business men. Percy LeSueur, goalkeeper of the Ottawa team, will embark shortly in the real estate business. With the big boom now in progress in the city, Percy should find the venture a successful one.

LAJOIE MAY PLAY SHORT

McGuire not Satisfied With Recruits Trying for Job.—Stoval to go Back to First Base.

Cleveland, O., April 9.—The latest dope from New Orleans is that Nap Lajoie may play short instead of first for the Cleveland team, and Stoval on the initial sack. McGuire is disappointed over the failure of his four shortstopping candidates, Nichols, Hall, Peckinpah, and Cooney, to come across. Turner will stay on second, and with Stoval in good form on first, Lajoie is the only man who could get away with shortstop.

There will be a soccer football match this afternoon at the exhibition grounds at three o'clock. The competing teams will be Alberta College Juniors, and Edmonton High School.

LYNCH CONFERS WITH UMPIRES

Natural League Head Says They are Monarchs of Playing Field and Should Enforce Rules.

New York, April 9.—President Lynch of the National league went over the playing rules with his eight regular umpires and his recently appointed arbitrator, Dewitt Van Cleaf, during a five hours' conference in New York today.

Lynch told his men that they were the monarchs of the field, and that all they had to do in order to regain their positions was to enforce the playing code. It went over with them the many protested games. The National league had recently particularly last year, and showed how some of these protests could have been avoided.

He called their attention particularly to rule 75, which provides that the only persons who shall be allowed on the field during the game are the players, umpires, and such officers of the law as may be required to preserve order. Staff photographers no longer will be allowed near the diamond after the game starts.

The umpires who attended the meeting are Hank O'Day, James E. Johnston, William J. Klon, Charles Rigler, Steve Kan, William Brennan, Angie Moran, Robert D. Emslie and Dewitt Van Cleaf.

THIS OUGHT TO SUIT THEM.

The players in the Western Canada League have a chance to win the automobile which is to be presented to the player in organized baseball who has the highest batting average this year. But with Tyms Cobb, Hans Wagner and Nap Lajoie in the hunt, the best the western players can hope for is a ride in the tonneau.

But the skill of the Edmonton batters is not going to be overlooked. La Fleche Bros., merchant tailors on First street, will give a handsome suit of clothes to the leading batsman of the local team at the end of the league season. The winner can select any pattern from La Fleche Bros.' extensive stock of choice tailors.

The conditions are as follows: All players, except pitchers, must participate in half of the league games. Pitchers must be engaged in fifty full games. The winner will be decided by the Edmonton Capital from its weekly table of league averages. Fans will thus be able to follow from the Capital's sporting page, the progress of their favorites.

The players are all very grateful to La Fleche Bros. for their kind offer, and there will be much friendly rivalry for the prize.

It is likely that other live business houses in Edmonton will put up prizes as a reward for the prowess of Deacon White's men.

WILL WORK OUT
THIS AFTERNOON

Mills, Grady and Barnstead will be at Diamond Park To-Day.—Deacon Has Left for the Coast.

Jack Mills, the player who will guard the Eskimo's difficult corner, blew into town on Friday and will await around the ball park this afternoon. Mills, who is a stockily-built man, looks in good shape, speaking to the Capital, said he was tickled to death to be again on a team under Deacon White's management. He has had a little practice in Calgary this spring and is anxious for the season to start. Barnstead, the elongated pitcher, was to have accompanied Mills, but missed the train. However, he will be in Edmonton in time to turn out this afternoon, and throw a few more.

Jack Grady has been working out at the Y.M.C.A. for the last month, along with the Peerless Leader, and is looking very fit. Jack has taken on some weight this winter, and should have a mighty successful season. The fans all remember the long pitcher's work last year. Grady, would trot out and hold the opposing team down to two or three hits, and then lose the game on account of the infield errors and weak sticking of Denny McGuire's pit.

If Jack gets good support this season, and there is no doubt he will, we look to see him very near the top of the W. C. L. pitchers' averages.

Deacon White, the Peerless Leader, departed for the coast yesterday on a still hunt for a catcher. Of course if Deak sees any promising youngsters, who would look well in a grey suit with narrow blue stripes, he will certainly grab them. But, as the society column would state: A catcher is the raison d'être of Deacon's trip.

That Edmonton infield: Moose Baxter, 1st base; Jack Brennan, 2nd; Pete Morse, s.s.; and Jack Mills, 3rd, looks about the class of the league. All we need is a catcher, and if Deacon is successful in obtaining Whaling's signed contract, we will await the opening of the season with marked confidence.

IS IT READY,
OR IS IT NOT?

By This "It" We Mean the Long-Looked-For Western Canada League Schedule.

Readers of this page will notice a despatch from Winnipeg which states that the Western Canada league draft schedule has been completed, and sent to the magazines for their approval.

Here is another wire, stating that nothing has been done as yet about this important matter:

Lethbridge, April 8.—The schedule of the Western Canada league, which has been left in the hands of Messrs. Eckstrom, Lethbridge, Gray, Edmonton and Blackburn, Winnipeg, is hanging fire. Mr. Blackburn has not yet been heard from. His version is expected any day now, when notice will be given of the results of comparison. With the exception of the schedule the league affairs are in good shape. The umpires have been appointed, and the various clubs have been kept in touch with the president and league office.

As soon as Mr. Blackburn of Winnipeg, is heard from a draft schedule will be drawn up.

A direct saving to the man who buys his furnishings and clothing at the Standard. Quality and low price are the two things to be remembered.

BOBBY PRINGLE
WITH THE CAPS.

Con. Jones, of Vancouver, was After the Speedy Fielder.—Ralph, Fagan and Hutton Sign With Ottawa.

Ottawa, April 8.—Bobby Pringle has consented to play with the Capitals again, having declined an offer from Vancouver. He wants to see Herby Ralph, Billy Fagan and Bouse Hutton on the team. Fagan may play, but Hutton and Ralph are likely to continue on the superannuated list. There is talk of keeping Teddy Cronin, of the Nationals here, and Ban Clark may be brought from Walkerton, although there is a feeling that it would be wiser to continue to use the veteran, Barney Quinn in the flags. A meeting of the Capital players and executive officers will be called for some night this week to get affairs straightened out. Starts in another claimant to the annual retiring honors, President Cunningham want: a free hand in the operation of the team.

BOSTON DOVES
IN AN ACCIDENT

But not a Wing was Hurt.—When Travelling in Old Kaintuck Natural Leaguers had Narrow Escape.

Louisville, Ky., April 8.—Again a railroad wreck, which more than once this spring has interfered with baseball training, overtook a major league team today. The players in this case being the second division of the Boston Nationals piloted by John J. Dovey. At Saxton, Ky., the C. and N. train on which the team was en route from Knoxville, Tenn., to Louisville, ran into an open switch. None of the players or other passengers according to reports reaching here, were hurt. But Engineer Roush was killed and the passenger and express messenger injured.

LONG VOYAGE, BIG PROFITS

Schooner Travelled 20,000 Miles in Search of Seals.

PROFITS WERE OVER $20,000

Vessel Touched Points in Antarctic Where White Men Had Not Been for 88 Years.

Halifax, N. S., April 9.—After a voyage lasting eight months, during which 20,000 miles were traversed and places that have not been visited for over eighty years were called at, the sealing schooner Latooka, Captain Ryan, arrived in port this week. Since leaving Halifax last July the experiences of the ship and her crew have been many and varied. The Latooka left Halifax on a seal-hunting and exploring expedition to the Antarctic Ocean. On the way to the sealing grounds the little schooner encountered gale after gale, and poor progress was made. To add to the bad luck her keel sprung, forward of the foremast, and she began to leak badly. The Latooka was put on the slip at Rio de Janeiro and repairs costing over $4,000 were completed.

After leaving Rio de Janeiro the Latooka headed for the south sealing grounds. Away to the south where no other sealer has ever been Captain Ryan went, searching for South Sea seals, which are the most valuable of the furry denizens of the deep. He visited the islands which have not been visited by white men for 88 years, islands which are uninhabited, rocky and barren, and rise right up out of the water in some cases between three and four thousand feet high.

The Latooka made the highest average catch of the Halifax sealing fleet. It will net the owners over twenty thousand dollars. Captain Ryan did not confine his efforts to catching seals, however, having done a great deal of exploring. The Latooka was as far south as latitude 60. Here Captain Ryan states is the finest whaling grounds to be found in the world. Whales of all sizes were to be seen continually.

REDMOND ON WRONG TACK

Leader of New Irish Party Criticises His Policy.

WILL HE OBTAIN HOME RULE?

William O'Brien Declares that the Nationalist Party is Making no Progress in That Direction.

In the Nineteenth Century for March Mr. William O'Brien, M.P. for Cork and one of the leaders of the Irish party which has arisen in opposition to the Nationalists, holds the latter party responsible for failing during the last seven years, to make any sensible progress towards Home Rule. He charges them with squandering opportunities to bring the north and the south together in common action for Ireland's benefit, and with pursuing the policy of perpetuating race hatred as the one best calculated to find for Ireland a permanent solution of her problems.

Mr. O'Brien begins with the Land Purchase Act of 1903. That Act he credits as the work of the Land Conference, which was an honest attempt to bring together representatives of landlords and of tenants, of Protestants and of Roman Catholics, and to create a truly national sentiment apart from political affiliations and preconceived prejudices. Unfortunately from the conference were omitted several leaders of the Nationalists whose ability and standing entitled them to be considered representatives of the tenantry. The consequence was that these men first looked askance at the Conference, then opposed its findings, and soon were engaged in a fierce conflict with all that it meant in material progress and all that it stood for in softened feelings. They impaired the effectiveness of the Land Purchase Act according to Mr. O'Brien, but even in the face of their opposition within five years 300,000 occupiers had become owners. With their help the act could have been far more effective, but their course towards it and kindred subjects has so alienated Irish sentiment, according to the writer, that it is to be attributed the fact that the Nationalist Parliamentary party has been reduced from eighty-three to seventy-one as a result of the recent elections.

A Significant Feature The most significant feature of Mr. O'Brien's attack on Mr. Redmond and his colleagues is the assertion of his conviction and of those who follow him, that the regeneration of Ireland must come from a union of the people of the island, and that the Nationalists are ignoring this essential requisite to reform, and are bent on pursuing the campaign against "the hereditary enemy." This latter method, Mr. O'Brien says, has been tried for centuries and has failed. The other method, tried under impossible conditions by Gladstone and Parnell in 1886, has been given but one chance, that of the Land Conference of 1902, and in the face of violent and unscrupulous opposition has accomplished much. The agricultural production of Ireland has increased remarkably under the operation of the Land Act, there is less agrarian agitation and much improvement in the attitude of the majority and minority towards each other. Mr. O'Brien professes to be an absolute convert to the theory of conciliation in the confident expectation of "Killing the objections to Home Rule with kindness." He concludes his article with these words:

"The British people would do well to remember that whatever comes of it, the All-Ireland movement proceeds at all events from a cardinal principle of winning over the British people and the Irish Protestant minority as the cause of self-government by sincere and amicable protest of Irish friendliness, fraternity, and community of interests without hostility to either of the great British parties, and without subservience to the merely partisan interests of either of them."

Canadian and English Opinion.

In this connection it may be pointed out that Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, in speaking on the subject of Home Rule in Montreal on St. Patrick's day, made it clear that the Home Rule of which he dreamt implied no separation of Ireland from the Empire, and therefore it was a reform robbed of half its sting for those who believe the Union to be in danger if Home Rule be given Ireland.

That the settlement of Ireland's traditional quarrel with Britain may pave the way to the union of British countries is the opinion of one Englishman who lately visited Montreal. "The Federal system as worked out in Canada and Australia," he said, "seems to offer the machinery that is required to bring Great Britain and her overseas dominions into a working partnership. Now, if the English Parliament were to devolve certain of its functions upon an Irish legislature, certain others upon a Scottish one, and still others upon an English one, we ought to have a satisfied and loyal Ireland, an Imperial Parliament stripped of its minor duties that now clog its hours, and a Federal Union, into which any of the Dominions could enter as soon as they desired the mingled responsibilities and privileges such a union would imply. I fail to see why some men do not see that to create a federal union would be to settle the centuries old dispute between England and Ireland—thus immensely strengthening the empire at its heart—and would, in all human probability, be the means of making smooth the way of Imperial Union."

SPEAKS FOR PROHIBITION

Rev. G. H. Hibbert Gave Interesting Address at Baptist Church

At a meeting in the First Baptist Church, Rev. G. H. Hibbert delivered an address on the subject of "Prohibition." Mr. Hibbert denounced the license laws as the "most shameful that ever stained the statute book of a Christian province," and that they were more required to deal with the liquor sellers than with those who buy the liquor.

The license laws, he said, prohibit the sale of spirits to those who are intoxicated, but take no measures to prevent men from becoming so. Mr. Hibbert requested all those who had ever heard of a liquor dealer being arrested for selling liquor to a drunkard, to hold up their hands. No hands were held up.

Mr. Hibbert closed his interesting discourse by saying that the license laws were never made to be enforced, and that his solution of the problem would be to close up every saloon in the province.

OWES LIFE TO DOG

Animal's Keen Scent Showed Where Master Was Buried.

Seward, Alaska, April 8.—St. Clair McClary, a miner, buried deep in a snowslide, owes his life to the keen scent of his dog, according to news which reached here from the Haugan copper property. The snowslide swept down the hillside on March 28, and the four men at work on the property were caught without warning and buried under several feet of snow and debris. Two managed to escape without serious injury. So deep was the slide, however, that difficulty was experienced in reaching the other two. Finally the keen scent of the dog indicated a place to which its scratching and barking led the rescuers. After hard digging they came on the men who had been buried for eight hours. Thomas Cones was dead, having succumbed under the icy weight. St. Clair McClary was almost dead when taken out, and had given up hope when brought relief. He is expected to recover.

Chain of Creameries

New York, April 9.—Dealers on the wholesale butter market here predict that as a result of the reduction in the tariff on cream from eleven cents to five cents a gallon, there will shortly be large quantities of cheaper butter offered to consumers in New York, Chicago, and other cities within reasonable distance from the Canadian border. A chain of creameries, it is said, is to be built along the Canadian frontier, which will make butter from Canadian cream and will be able to market their product at a reduction of 25 per cent. from the current price

MODEL LOAN OFFICES

Mrs. Russell Sage Devotes Part of Fortune to Good Purpose

New York, April 9.—Mrs. Russell Sage is to devote some of the millions left by her husband to saving the poor and needy of this state from the usury of loan sharks. The Sage millions are to be used to capitalize a chain of model loan establishments, which will advance money on chattel mortgages at the legal rate of interest.

The Sage Foundation, co-operating with Orion H. Cheney, state superintendent of banks, has prepared the plan, and it only awaits the final approval of Mrs. Sage. She has just returned from a trip across the continent and is expected to settle the final details of the plan at once.

According to Mr. Cheney, the new loan offices will not only be of inestimable benefit to the poor, but will drive the usurers and loan sharks out of business, or, at least, cripple them. He has been engaged for some time in waging war on these loan sharks, and was very thankful for the aid proffered by Mrs. Sage.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

CHANGE OF ANGLE.

YOU may have noticed that the man who was great respect and...
"For want of a nail the shoe was lost,
And for want of a shoe the rider was lost,
And for want of a rider the horse was lost,
And for want of a horse the cart was lost,
And for want of a cart the goods were lost,
And for want of goods the merchant was lost,
And for want of a merchant the city was lost,
And for want of a city the world was lost."

It is almost a truism that...
"If he can see his neighbor trimmed
In every proper style,
Because he cracked an ordinance
That pretty apt to smile,
But when the tall policeman comes
And says, "Old man, you're it!"
At such officiousness as that
He almost throws a fit."

It all depends, as you may guess,
On where his interests rest.
Just how he wants the law enforced
And such like with a side,
But if a highwayman should say,
"Hold up your hands, old sport!"
He'd want to see the limits fixed
By some discerning court."

A Speculator.
"What is the matter with you?"
"I don't know."
"Let me give you a pill."
"What is it good for?"
"I dunno."
"Then why don't you take it?"
"If you don't know what it'll do
I don't know what this pill will do
It's good for it seems to me that the two
Will go well together."

Paradoxically,
"He has money to burn."
"Indeed?"
"You bet."
"And does he burn it?"
"Never."
"Why?"
"He wouldn't have it to do."

Hard to Please.
"It is so hard to pay a compliment
To a fat woman."
"Tell her she is getting so thin that she ought to call a physician."
"No; she would know that was fattery."
"Then any that she is all wool and a yard wide."

Best of All.
The going girl is pretty,
There isn't any doubt.
In country or in city
She turns all heads about.
The skating maid is charming
As o'er the ice she darts.
It really is alarming
She breaks so many hearts.
These maidens all are deers
And never are at rest.
We cannot help agreeing
The hired girl is best.

Their Usefulness.
"Many fools get into trouble."
"I have noticed that myself."
"What is the good of them?"
"Other fools help them out."

No Use For Them.
"I am always looking out for cheap things."
"Well, when I run across cheap people I always avoid them."

Infant Perception.
"Ma, are you and pa one?"
"Of course we are."
"Then does that make you two?"

Justified.
That she should cackle as she does
Occasions no surprise.
No wonder that she makes a fuss
When eggs are in the skies.

Unpleasant.
"I should hate to be always right."
"Why?"
"It puts one in such disagreeable company."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Getting a living is the first impulse with the most of us, and we are prone to think that the end justifies the means.

You can't be everywhere all the time. That is the reason you often get talked about.

Making money is the easiest way to earn a living.

There are lots of people who become hopelessly maddened by their much making.

A doctor's orders seem good, sensible and much to be desired as long as it isn't you to whom they are applied.

A beauty doctor may get rich, but she doesn't do it trying to be beautiful.

from it. That, of course, was not true, for he knew two missionaries who had died from it.

They suggested also that the British missionaries, who had caused disease and death, the tangible evidence of this being the placing of disinfectants in the wells during outbreaks of cholera by the officers of the health department. "But," declared the speaker, "beyond these few poor, simple ignorant souls, who have been thus tampered with, I do not fear trouble in India. Lord Kitchener, when leaving the country three months ago, was not looking for any repetition of the dreadful uprising of 1857."

British Administration Fair

"Letters were found upon the two Indian agitators whom I spoke of as being deported," continued Principal King, "establishing beyond the shadow of a doubt their activity amongst the loyal Chukras and Sikhs, in the hope of creating dissension. When they were located by the Superintendent of Police, the governor of the province did not care to risk a trial, and accordingly both men were quietly sent out of the country under an old law which allowed this course, being followed. Since then there has been no real trouble. Out of the great population of India not more than five per cent. can read or write, and few of these go beyond the deciphering of the simple postcard in their own language. It is not from the masses that sedition springs. They are not seeking representation and are not crying out for a change in rule. The British administration, as I know it, is fair and just, and I believe from what I have seen that the average native so considers it. It is the Brahmin who is the menace."

The Real Cure

"The longer I stay in India, the more I am compelled to lean towards the moral and spiritual education of this caste as the real cure for India's unrest. I am endorsed in this view by a similar attitude on the part of the native princes, who are introducing religious teaching into the native schools. Sir Andrew Fraser, who cannot officially take any steps along this line, favors the plans of the missionary educationists in every possible way, because he too believes in it. So there is a much-needed work to be carried on by our college and other institutional places of learning in India. The more I think of it the more I come to believe," he concluded, "that the colleges and among them, Indore College, are not only doing the work of the church but of the British Empire as well."

BEST POST OFFICE NEAR COMPLETION

New Building in London, England, Will be Finest of Kind in the World

London, April 9.—The new general post office in London, now in the course of construction on Newgate street, is expected to prove the finest institution of its kind in the world. Simplicity and expedition were the two major objects of the authorities in designing the building, and the officials declare that it will be possible to handle mail in the new post office more quickly than can anywhere else be done.

More than 3,000 men, including sorters, porters and clerks, will be employed when the building opens for business next August. Ten electric elevators, one having a carrying capacity of six tons several smaller "lifts," and numerous endless moving bands will assist the employees in their work.

"To sort the letters with as few handlings as possible is our aim," said one of the London postal officers the other day. "By the use of the endless bands, which, by the way, are a great improvement over those in operation in post offices in the United States, the sorters need scarcely move from their places. A bag comes in to the sorter, who empties its contents into the cable. Among the letters there may be several newspaper packages. Having nothing to do with newspapers the sorter tosses them on a moving band, which rushes them out to the newspaper carriers. Then mail bags that do not have to be opened, but which merely require checking, are sent by the moving bands to the other end of the building for dispatch. As fast as the letters requiring sorting are handled, they too, are placed in separate packages, and whisked away by the bands. In short, one might almost say that, save for deciphering the addresses, all the mail will be handled automatically by the new general post office, and it is in this substitution of machinery for manual labor that we expect to beat even the New York office in the time necessary to handle the mail."

LEAVING FOR PERU

Murdoch Sutherland Will be Associated With "Swiftwater Bill" Gates

On his way to join a party which will exploit the mining properties of "Swiftwater Bill" Gates in Peru, Murdoch Sutherland, a young engineer of this city, left for Spokane yesterday. A large party is outfitting in Spokane and Sutherland, who has been with Gates before, was told that if he wanted to join the Peru venture he must proceed to Spokane immediately.

"Swiftwater Bill" Gates is the famous Klondiker who achieved a great deal of fame during the palmy days of the Yukon by visiting Seattle and carrying around his money in a huge sack over his shoulder. He spent money freely and finding his gold gave him a certain fascination for several actresses, he was married. His sensational marriages followed by his still more sensational divorces are still fresh in the minds of the citizens of the Pacific coast.

Democratic House if they thought such a result would eliminate the insurgent element of the party. The responsible leadership, however, is anxious for success in order that President Taft may not have a Democratic House on his hands in the last two years of his administration.

The Democrats are in a hopeful frame of mind. They get a great deal of consolation out of the election of Eugene N. Foss in the Fourteenth Massachusetts district. They are hopeful that the result of the election in the Thirty-second New York district on April 19 will show that the tide of public sentiment is drifting away from the party in power. Republicans have been severely critical of the action of the convention in the Thirty-second district in nominating George W. Aldridge. They assert that Aldridge's defeat, if it comes, will be largely on personal grounds; but they realize that the Democrats will construct it as another evidence of dissatisfaction with the Republican rule. The Democrats intend to concentrate their forces, oratorical and financial, on the special election in the Rochester district.

PLOW MORE LAND—SAVE TIME PLOW IT CHEAPER AND EASIER

BUILT entirely of steel and malleable iron—has great strength and durability. The frame, beams, bails, axles and braces are of high carbon steel—this frame will stand the severest tests which a plow of this kind will ever have to undergo. Steel wheels have long removable dust-proof bearings with large wearing surfaces insuring long life and small cost for repairs. With hard oil these bearings require very little attention.

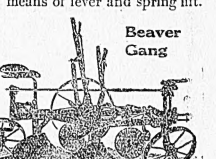

New Jewel Gang

Land wheel is large and fitted with cushion spring to absorb shocks. Built in two sizes—12 inch or 14 inch bottoms, either breaker or stubble. This plow is fitted with a high lift attachment, simplifying the operation of the plow. Once set for work, the plow can be raised from or lowered to the ground by a handy foot lever, leaving the driver's both hands free to manage the horses. A special device locks the plows up when raised from the ground and locks them down when set for work.

Why Cockshutt Implements are Successful

THE Cockshutt standard of quality was settled over 30 years ago. When the first plow was turned out at the Brantford factory years ago it was the best in its day. Crude, perhaps, as compared with the plows nowadays, but still the best then. And 1910 finds Cockshutt implements in the self-same place—on top—because Cockshutt Quality has kept on improving with the times. The soft centre shares for stubble work in all Cockshutt plows—including these two—are the heaviest ever put on a plow by any manufacturer in the world. For breaking, either of these two gang plows can be furnished with rod mould-boards, which interchange with ordinary breaking boards. Write us to-day or see the Cockshutt Dealer FURROW and rear wheels are connected and controlled from the pole. By this arrangement the plow is easily guided when working or turning at the ends. The levers are so placed that they are easily reached by the operator. It is light of draft, strongly built, and can be worked by anyone. The plow is easily raised by means of lever and spring lift.

Beaver Gang

The frame is after the style of the Empire, and has all the features of the high-lift gang, but is much lighter in weight.

For 1910 all Beaver Gangs are fitted with steel and malleable standards, which are unbreakable.

highway that ran from Ararat to the mines.

Selim crept on ahead to reconnoiter. He was back in ten minutes with the information that a party of men had just lately passed along the road to the south. Their footprints in the road, untraveled for years, were fresh. The stub of a cigarette had scarcely burned itself out.

They broke away from the road and took a less exposed course through the forest to their right, keeping well within earshot of the ridge, but moving so carefully that there was slight danger of alarming the party ahead.

At last the sound of voices came to the ears of the pursuers. As they crept closer and closer they became aware of the fact that the party had halted in the roadway at the point where a sharp defile through the rocks opened a way down into the valley. Like snakes the pursuers wriggled their way to a point just above the small basin in which the party was congregated.

A great throb of exultation leaped up from their hearts. In plain view, at the side of the road, were the two persons for whom they were searching. "Good luck is with us," whispered Chase unconsciously.

Lady Agnes, disheveled, her dress half stripped from her person, was seated upon a great boulder, staring hopelessly, lifelessly, at the crowd of men in the roadway. Beside her stood a tall islander, watching her and at the same time listening eagerly to the dispute that went on between his fellows. She was not alone. Her hands and feet and lips were free.

Bobby Browne was standing near by. His hands were tightly bound behind his back. His face was blood covered, and the upper part of his body was almost bare, evidence of the struggle he had made against overbearing odds. He was staring at the ground, his head and shoulders drooping in utter dejection.

Three of the treasure chests were slung beside the road, affording seats for as many weary carriers. It was all quite plain to Chase. Rasulu and his men had chanced upon the two white people during one of their trips to the cave for the purpose of removing the chests.

Rasulu was haranguing the crowd of men in the road.

"It is the only way!" he was shouting angrily. "We cannot put them to death until we are sure that the others have no chance to escape to England. I am a lawyer. I know what it would mean if the story got to the ears of the government. We have then safety in our hands. The others will soon die. Then—then there can be no mistake! They must be taken to the mines and kept there until I have explained everything to the people. Part of us shall conduct them to the lower mill and the rest of us go on to the bank where these chests of gold are hidden."

Rasulu and six of the stoutest men prepared to continue the journey to Ararat, transporting the chests. Five sullen, resentful fellows swung and beside the captives and threw themselves down upon the grassy sward.

"We will wait here till day comes," rasped one of them dully. "Why should we risk our necks going down the pass tonight? It is 1 o'clock. The sun will be here in three hours. Go on!"

"As you like, Abou Dal," said Rasulu, shrugging his pinched shoulders. "I shall come to the mill at 6 o'clock." Turning to the prisoners, he bowed low and said, with a soft laugh: "Adios, my lady, and you, most noble sir. May your dreams be pleasant and your dreams that you are wedded and have come into the wealth of Japan, but spare none of your dream to the husband and wife who are lying awake and weeping for the foolish ones who would go searching for the forbidden fruit. Folly is a hard road to travel, and it leads to the graveyard of fools. Adios!"

Lady Agnes bent over and dropped her face into her hands. She was trembling convulsively. Browne did not show the slightest sign that he had heard the galling words.

At a single sharp command the six men picked up the three chests and moved off rapidly down the road, Rasulu striding ahead with the sullen crew.

They were barely out of sight when Deppingham moved as though impelled by driving him into immediate attack upon the guards who were left behind with the unhappy prisoners. Chase laid a restraining hand upon his arm.

"Wait! Plenty of time. Wait an hour. Don't spoil everything. We'll save them sure," he breathed in the other's ear.

The minutes slipped by with excruciating slowness. The wretched ones that took place in the little grass grown niche below them. They could have sprung almost into the center of the group from the position they occupied. Two of the men sat with their backs to the rocks, their rifles across their knees. The others sprawled lazily upon the soft grass. Two torches stuck in the earth threw a weird light over the scene.

Bobby Browne was now lying with his shoulder against a fallen tree trunk, staring with unseeing gaze at the woman across the way. She was looking off into the night, steadfastly refusing to glance in his direction.

Then suddenly Lady Agnes arose to her feet and lifted her hands high toward the black dome of heaven, Sakhmash-like, and prayed aloud to her God, the sneering islanders looking on in silent derision.

CHAPTER XXVIII. THE PERSIAN ANGEL.

THE man called Abou suddenly leaped to his feet and, with the cry of an eager animal, sprang to her side. His arms closed about her slender figure with the unmistakable lust of a victor. A hoarse, guttural cry of rage burst from Deppingham's lips. His figure shot out through the air and down the short slope with the rush of an infuriated beast. Even as the astonished Abou dropped his struggling burden to meet the attack of the undaunted deliverer he was felled to the earth by a mighty blow from the rifle which his assailant swung swift and true. His skull was crushed as if it were an eggshell.

He was felled to the earth by a mighty blow.

Lady Agnes struggled to her feet, wild eyed, half crazed by the double assault. The next instant she fell forward upon her face, dead to all that was to follow in the next few minutes.

There was no struggle. Chase and Selim were upon the stupefied islanders before they could move, covering them with their rifles. The wretches fell upon their knees and howled for mercy. While Deppingham was holding his wife's limp form in his arms, calling out to her in the agony of fear, utterly oblivious to all else that was happening about him, his two friends were swiftly dismissing the groveling natives. Selim's knife severed the cords that bound Bobby Browne's hands. He was staring blankly, dizzily before him.

Ten minutes later Chase was addressing himself to the four islanders who, bound and gagged, were tied by their own snakes and held so close to the five mile walk we've got to do in the next two hours—or less. You are to have the honor of carrying her four miles and half, and you will have to get along the best you can with the gags in your mouths. Two of you form a basket with your hands.

"I've just thought of a little service you fellows can perform for me in return for what I've done for you. All the time you're doing it, however, there will be pistols quite close to your backs. Lady Deppingham is much too weak to take the five mile walk we've got to do in the next two hours—or less. You are to have the honor of carrying her four miles and half, and you will have to get along the best you can with the gags in your mouths. Two of you form a basket with your hands.

With Selim in the lead the little procession moved swiftly, but cautiously, through the black jungle, bent on reaching the gate if possible before the night lifted. Chase and Bobby Browne brought up the rear with the weak and suffering from torture and exposure, struggled bravely along, determined not to retard their progress by a single moment of indecision.

In his heart Browne was now raging against the fate that had placed him in this humiliating, almost contemptible position. He, and he alone, was responsible for the sufferings that Lady Agnes had endured. It was as gall and wormwood to him that other men had been ordained to save her from the misery that he had created. He could almost have welcomed death for himself and her rather than to have been saved by George Deppingham.

His wife! He could never be the same to her. He had forfeited the trust and confidence of the loyal believer among them all. And now Lady Deppingham loathed him because his weakness had been greater than hers!

When he would have slain the four helpless islanders with his own hands, Hollingsworth Chase had stayed his rage with the single, caustic adjuration:

"The men were beside her a moment later, possessed of the weapons of the helpless sentinels. With a crash the gates were closed, and a joyous laugh rang out from the exultant throat of Hollingsworth Chase.

"By the Lord Harry, this is worth while!" he shouted. Outside the madened guards were sounding the tardy alarm. The first gray shade of day was coming into the night.

He saw Neenah ahead of him, standing still in the center of the graven path. Beyond her was the tall figure of a man.

"You are a trump, Neenah," cried Chase, hurrying up to her, "a Persian angel!"

It was not Neenah's laugh that replied. Chase gasped in amazement and then uttered a cry of joy.

The Princess Geneva, slim and erect, was standing before him, her hand touching her turban in true military salute, soft laughter rippling from her lips.

In the exuberance of joy he clasped that little hand and crushed it against his lips.

"You!" he exclaimed.

"Sil!" she warned. "I have retained my guard of honor."

He looked beyond her and beheld the tall, soldierly figure of a Rapp-Thorpe guardsman.

"The devil!" fell involuntarily from his lips.

"Not at all! He is here to keep me from going to the devil!" she cried so merrily that he laughed aloud with her in the spirit of unbounded joy. "Come! Let us run after the others. I want to run and dance and sing."

He still held her hand as they ran swiftly down the drive, followed closely by the faithful sergeant.

"You are an angel," he said in her ear. She laughed as she looked up into his face.

"Yes—a Persian angel," she cried. "It's so much easier to run well in a Persian angel's costume," she added.

CHAPTER XXIX.

A PERSIAN ANGEL.

YOU are wonderful, staying out there all night watching for us." He was about to say "me."

"How could any one sleep? Neenah found this dress for me. Aren't these baggy trousers funny? She rifled the late Mr. Wyckholme's wardrobe. This costume once adorned a sultana. I'm told. I wore it tonight because I was much less conspicuous as a sultana than I might have been had I gone to the wall as a princess."

"I like you best as the princess," he said, frankly surveying her in the gray light.

"I think I like myself as the princess, too," she said naively. He sighed deeply. They were quite close to the excited group on the terrace when she said: "I am very, very happy now after the most miserable night I have ever known. I was so troubled and afraid!"

"Just because I went away for that little while? Don't forget that I am soon to go out from you for all time. How then?"

"Ah, but then I will have Paris!" she cried gayly. He was puzzled by her mood—but then, why not? What could he be expected to know of the moods of royal princesses? No more than he could know of their loves.

Lady Deppingham was got to bed at once. The princess, more thrilled by excitement than she ever had been in her life, attended her friend. In the sanctity of her chamber the exhausted young Englishwoman bared her soul to this wise, sympathetic young woman in Persian vestment.

"Geneva," she said solemnly in the end, "take warning from my example. When you once are married don't tangle with other men—not even if you should not love your husband. Sooner or later you'd get tripped up. It doesn't pay, my dear. I never could until tonight how much I really care for Deppy, and I am horribly afraid that I've lost something I can never recover."

"You were never in love with Mr. Browne. That is why I can't understand you, Agnes."

"My dear, I don't understand myself. How can I expect you or my husband to understand me? How could I expect it of Bobby Browne? Geneva, you are in love—madly in love—with Hollingsworth Chase. Take my advice. Marry him. He's one man in a million—Geneva placed her hand over the lips of the feverish young woman. "I will not listen to anything more about Mr. Chase," she said firmly. "I am tired—tired to death—of being told that I should marry him."

"But you love him," Lady Agnes managed to mumble despite the gentle impediment.

A Merchant Must make it Pay You To Read His ADS!

WHATEVER he does to make his store of more importance to you than is the store of his competitor must be explained, hinted or suggested to you—and he can only do that by enchaining your attention to his ads.

He is aware that you "know things" about stores—about goods—values, prices. He, therefore, knows that to advertise something that is actually high-priced—or, not actually priced on a profit-dividing plan—is to merely give proof of the non-usefulness of his store to you.

Now, the merchant knows that his store is useful to you. And he knows that he must make it more and more so. So his problem resolves itself into this:

That as only Good Values offered make good advertising, he must make everything in his store advertisable. Thus, to make store-keeping pay he must be a big advertiser; and to make advertising pay he must make it pay the person who reads it.

The inexorable logic of modern business, therefore, compels the merchant to make it pay you to read his ads.

Where the Good

Father Lepine, O.M.I., the assistant priest at the Immaculate Conception Church, left this morning for France. Before his departure he was presented with a handsome purse by his parishioners. A brief address was read by R. McKee, president of the Young Men's Club, in which he stated that there was no finer page in Canadian history than that of the old missionaries who have planted the standard of faith throughout the whole West. Father Lepine has been engaged in mission work for seventeen years.

While leading a prize stallion along McDougall avenue yesterday afternoon a man named Morrison had a narrow escape from being killed. When crossing the car tracks on Jasper the horse became unmanageable and plunging wildly threw Morrison to the ground and then commenced to run away. The man was dragged some distance and severely scratched before passers by managed to stop the flight of the animal.

INQUEST WAS OPENED

The inquest on the body of George McDonald, which was to have been held yesterday, was postponed until Monday next on account of Mr. J. C. Brown, K.C., the city solicitor, being unable to be present, owing to his absence being required in the supreme court. The name of the deceased is found to be George McDonald, not John, as was at first stated. The jury were taken to the scene of the disaster where Motorman Heighman and Conductor Pinder explained thoroughly the relative positions of the car and George McDonald at the time of the accident.

Head of Construction Department of Swift Packing Company

On a tour of inspection, Mr. C. E. Kane of Chicago, head of the Swift Packing Company construction department, arrived in the city yesterday. This is Mr. Kane's first visit to the West and he stated yesterday that he was very much impressed with what he had seen of the city in the afternoon during a short walk around. He came up from Calgary and on the completion of his work here will return to the southern city before leaving for the East again.

Rebuild Government Road

Toronto, April 9.—Nearly one-half of the division of the T. & N. O. Railway from North Bay to New Liskeard, 113 miles, is curves. This makes the section 30 miles longer than it should be. This is the first section of the provincial government railway that was built, and this fault has been notorious. Surveys to the west of the right of way have been made, and the commission plan to reduce these curves by a new line with a grade not exceeding .75. It is expected the cost of grade reduction out of North Bay will be over $1,500,000.

SAYS NEGROES ARE KEPT IN CAPTIVITY

Important Issues Depend on Case Now Before United States Supreme Court.

Washington, April 9.—Protesting against what he terms an attempt in some southern states again to reduce the negro to captivity, Charles J. Bonaparte, former United States attorney general, has filed a brief in the supreme court of the United States in behalf of "Pink" Franklin, a South Carolina negro, under sentence to be hanged on a charge of murder.

The negro's appeal to the supreme court will be argued orally in about two weeks. It promises to bring to the fore the question of the status of "agricultural contracts," to which objection has been raised. The negro was under an "agricultural contract" to work for J. D. Thomas in Orangeburg County, South Carolina, in 1907. He quit before the contract expired.

A statute had been passed in South Carolina making it a misdemeanor for a laborer to break such a contract if he had become indebted to his employer. On the ground that Franklin had violated a statute of the state a warrant was sworn out for his arrest. The constable, H. E. Valentine, in attempting to arrest the negro went to the latter's home and was killed. Franklin was convicted.

Mr. Bonaparte's brief attempts to show that the negro had a right to resist arrest and protect himself, his family and his domicile because the statute which the warrant was based on had been held to be a violation of the state constitution.
